10 New Boston Venues for Small Events and Meetings

Trade

Noted chef Jody Adams, who helms Rialto at Cambridge's Charles Hotel, opened Trade at Atlantic Wharf in the waterfront area in October. The casual neighborhood restaurant, with a focus on local ingredients, is available for buyout, seating as many as 150 guests, or 250 for cocktails. A private dining room, with soaring ceilings, exposed brick walls, round tables, and floor-to-ceiling windows, seats 32. The private dining room offers full audio capabilities. Signature menu items are inspired by Adams's global travels; popular options include pomegranate-glazed eggplant and an array of flatbreads.
